Mid-Terms Ruin Spring Fever

An aura of spring is in the air — tentatively at least — accompanied by a not-so-tentative aura of something less gay, namely, midterm examinations, which will be given the week of March 18-22.

Despite the ominous warning which this message conveys, most students will not fully comprehend its significance until sometime next week, when hitherto neglected textbooks will be given first place over the latest issues of Playboy and midnight gab sessions.

Those seeking the solace offered by a hand of bridge may be disappointed to find the den lacking in inhabitants. However, a feeling of true fellowship may be gained by joining the masses who have retired to the library to engage themselves in intellectual pursuits.

Are midterms necessary? Long a subject of debate among students and faculty, this question has at last been resolved.

Along with the automation of the registration process, whereby pink slips have gone through a process of evolution to become white IBM cards, these "slips" have also multiplied. The Registrar's Office now furnishes each instructor with cards for all students in each class. As these cards are made of a fine grade of paper and have been subjected to a complicated printing process, the instructors naturally feel an obligation to use as many of them as possible. Hence the need for exams.

In short, midterms are a necessary evil, for which there is only one solution. One must take them with an attitude of calm and fortitude, keeping in mind the fact that "this, too, will pass."

Lecture Series at Conception Abbey

A lecture series, Contemporary Man, is now available at the Immaculate Conception Seminary, Conception, Missouri. Four learned speakers will talk on various modern problems and issues.

The next lecture, March 7, will feature Bernard Cooke S. J. Father Cooke, S.J., head of the Theology department at Marquette University, will speak on "St. Thomas' Theology of Sacrifice." He will lecture at Conception on the Feast of St. Thomas. He received his M.A. from St. Louis University and a S.T.D. from the Institute Catholique de Paris. The lecture starts at 7:30 p.m.

A former News Editor of the Daily Worker in London, Douglas Hyde, will follow on March 23 with "Communist Global Strategy." Mr. Hyde abandoned Communism in 1948 and has since lectured at the NATO Defense College in Paris, and served as a representative of the United Kingdom to SEATO conferences.

"Juvenile Delinquency" will be the topic discussed by Judge Henry A. Riederer during the April 19 lecture. Judge Riederer is well qualified to give insights to this problem. He received an LL.B. degree from the Kansas City School of Law, and was elected to the Executive Council of Missouri Judicial Conference and the Advisory Council on Judge of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency.

Ugly Man Election, Spring Carnival Set for Mar. 27-29

UMOC is coming!

Green posters with the ever-smiling visage of the Ugliest Man on Campus have appeared, announcing the forthcoming Ugly Man election Mar. 27, 28, 29.

Capped by the Spring Carnival on the final night of the campaign, the Ugly Man contest is sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega to raise money for the Student Loan Fund. As in past years, each dime contributed to a candidate counts as one vote. Candidates will vie in both student and faculty divisions.

Organizational nominations and booth reservations should be turned in to Bob Johnson or Scott Michaelson before Mar. 8.

"God idea, Hannibal, but what happens if you run out of ueanuts?"

Student Art Exhibit Opens in Rose Room

Have you visited the Rose Room of the Union Lounge recently? If not, you are missing an opportunity for an interesting, as well as a rewarding experience.

In the interest of furthering the cultural offerings of NWMSC, the Union Board is sponsoring the first of what it hopes will be a series of exhibitions in the Union Building.

Upon the request of the Union Board, the Art Club has consented to furnish a variety of work done by members for the initial exhibition. Designed with the intent of stimulating an interest in art within the student body, the display contains art objects from all mediums including sculpture, wood and metal, ceramics, oil paintings and watercolors, ink drawings, charcoal drawings and prints. Most of the objects on display are available for purchasing by anyone interested.

Pledge Classes Challenged to Ten Mile Hike

The rainy weather of Monday played havoc with a scheduled hike from Pumpkin Center.

Accepting a challenge from the Delta Zeta pledge class the Phi Lambda Chi fraternity pledges were planning to walk for the March of Dimes. But, of press time the two groups are going to take the hike to the college campus next Wednesday afternoon, weather permitting.

The pledges of Delta Zeta sorority and Phi Lambda Chi hope to collect donations for the March of Dimes from passing motorists, farm families along the route, and business in the downtown section of Maryville. This money will be given over to the March of Dimes.

A common practice on many campuses, exhibitions of this type are important to the cultural and academic growth of a college. The Union Board hopes that sufficient interest will be aroused among the students to enable programs of this type to be a continuous part of life on the NWMSC campus.

Business Department to Hear Advertising, Promotion Experts

A special program entitled "Advertising and Promotion for Small Businesses" will be presented Tuesday, March 12 by the Division of Business. This program will be a combined presentation featuring two outstanding speakers, William A. Bray and Frank Heck.

Mr. Bray is the general manager of the Missouri Press Association and associate professor of Journalism at the University of Missouri. He is a former owner and publisher of the Odessa Odessan, Mr. Bray is a graduate of the University of Missouri and is chairman of the Operating Committee and a member of the Board of Directors of the American Newspaper Representatives.

Mr. Heck is manager of advertising sales and promotion for the Missouri Press Service. He was formerly a managing editor of the Manhattan, Kansas Tribune-News and tele-

Friday Voting to Determine Queen, Senator, Reforms

Announcement

Announcements of all school events to be placed on the bulletin board next to the snack bar are to be submitted to the office of the director of Union facilities, Bill Needles, by Monday of the week the announcement is to be posted subject to review by the publicity chairman of the Union Board and the director of Union facilities.

Young Rep. Club To Discuss Humor

Political humor will be the topic of the Young Republicans' Club meeting Monday afternoon at 4 in the Upper Lakeview Room of the Student Union.

Ranging from light barbs of "The First Family" to the more penetrating comments of Mort Sahl, the program will present a wide variety of material, some partisan, some non-partisan. Jules Feiffer's Sick, Sick, Sick, and The Explainers, Gerald Gardner's Who's in Charge Here and More Who's in Charge Here, Alfred E. Newman's Mad magazines, and Mort Sahl's The Next President will all be included.

All students and faculty members, especially those with a talent for telephone booth stuffing, are invited to attend the meeting.

Faculty Dames to Meet

The next meeting of the Faculty Dames will be held Mar. 14 at 2:30 p.m., in the Gold Room of the Union Building.

Kaster, Siehl Nominated for Soph. Senator

Dennis Kaster and John Siehl have both filed for the vacant sophomore senate seat after two class meetings were held in order to have the constitutionally required number of nominees.

Kaster, a Phi Lambda Chi pledge, was nominated at the first meeting. He is from Afton, Iowa and is a business major with a history minor.

John Siehl, the Independent Student Organization candidate, was nominated at the special class meeting Monday noon. He is majoring in elementary education and is from Grinnell, Iowa.

Voting for the senate seat will take place in the Faculty Lounge in Colden Hall Friday along with balloting for Queen and the proposed constitutional amendment.

Senate Plans Tower Election

President Bob Cobb, at the Senate meeting Thursday, February 28, urged students to vote at the election Friday, March 8. There will be three things voted on at the election, Tower Queen, sophomore Senator, and the constitutional amendments. In order for the amendments to be passed or rejected, 1-3 of the student body, or at least 764 people must vote at the election. The polls will be in the Faculty Lounge of Colden Hall.

Don Daniels, Rich Cornelison, Ted Marr, and Howard Cunningham will attend a convention, "Exchange of Ideas" at Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Illinois March 8 and 9.

A meeting of campaign managers was held after the Senate meeting. Copies of the rules were handed out to the organizations and positions were drawn for posters and pictures.

APO Organizes Job Placement Bureau

"Sure I'd like to have some part-time work, but I haven't been able to find any."

In order to assist both students and townspeople with employment problems, Alpha Phi Omega is in the process of organizing a job placement program.

APO will collect names and other necessary information from students who wish to work. Local residents who need extra help may then contact Mr. Ralph Messerli, assistant dean of men, to obtain names of students available.

Amendment Would Limit Candidates

Two amendments to the Student Government Constitution will be voted upon March 8, coinciding with the Tower Queen election. In order for the amendments to be accepted there must be a simple majority approving provided 1/3 of the total student body votes.

The amendment concerning the student body president and vice-president has been changed from "who shall be an undergraduate at the time of election" to "who shall not be within thirty-five academic hours of graduating."

The Union Board chairman and vice-chairman previously read "... must have over fifty academic hours." A phrase has been added, so that it reads "... must have over fifty academic hours and not with thirty-five academic hours of graduating."

Queen to Be Crowned At Dance Sat. Night

Misses Jean Benefiel, Cary Holst, Judy Hullman, Sharon Jeschke, and Kay Pfeiffer are THE names and personalities in the news this week. One of the five lovelies will be chosen by the student body as Tower Queen. Voting will take place on March 8, from 8:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. in the Faculty Lounge of Colden Hall.

The candidates, accompanied by their escorts will be presented to the student body for the Harlem Globetrotter's game Friday, March 8.

The pinnacle, the crowning of the queen will be Saturday night, March 9 at the Tower Dance.

Bridge Tourney Results Show 4 Winners

Results have been received on the National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament. The top score for Maryville was shared by the team of Dan Dowell and Carl Henningsen with the team of Gary Cain and Leslie Grow. The national ranking of the teams will be announced later.

AKL Constitution Ok'd Petition Sent to Nat'l

The NWMSC Inter-fraternity Council approved the constitution of the new Alpha Lambda colony this week.

According to Ted Jamison, AKL president, the group has also petitioned the national Fraternity for recognition as a colony and for a prospective chartering date.

Dalbey, Pittsenbarger to Play Leading Roles in 'Girl Crazy'

Cynthia Dalbey and Gary Pittsenbarger will play the lead roles of Kate and Johnny in George Gershwin's 'Girl Crazy' on March 13, 14, and 15. This will be the first dramatic offering in NWMSC's Spring Festival of the Arts.

Cynthia Dalbey was born in

Cynthia Dalbey

Spencer, Iowa where she lived until her family recently moved to Shenandoah. She attended high school in Spencer and was active then, as she is now, in dramatics and music. She was president of Thespians and received two acting awards while in high school.

Upon graduating from high school, Cynthia represented Iowa in the United States of America High School Band. Last summer she toured Europe for two months with this group.

As mentioned before, Cynthia is not new to the stage but she is new to musical comedy. She says it is a form of entertainment that is new to her and that it involves "learning some new techniques." She is very fond of the part of Kate in which she is able to "really let go."

Gary Pittsenbarger has lived all of his life in Maryville, where he was born. He is a music major with a specialty in voice. He plans to teach upon his graduation.

Gary was in plays in high school but "never anything as big as this." He loves the work, a fact obvious by his sincerity in rehearsals. His biggest problem has been "learning the technical side of acting."

He plays the part of Johnny Churchill, a demanding role with several vocal numbers. Of the character of Johnny, Gary says, "If I met anyone like Johnny, I think I would like him."

THE COLLEGE OATH

"We will never bring disgrace to this, our College, by any act of cowardice or dishonesty. We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the College. We will respect and obey the College laws and do our best to incite a like respect and reverence in others. We will transmit this College to those who come after us, greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Is NWMSC a thinking man's college?

To me a college has always meant a reason to do some hard, challenging questioning and thinking. Learning and education is not only reading books and many grins during the social hours. Rather it's taking a scrutinizing look at what one has been told and deciding if one subscribes to the age-old laws and principles . . . if not formulating some of your own.

Just because you have been told "truth is truth" does not necessarily outlaw another alternative. You have the right and the duty of demanding proof.

Teachings on the various floor levels of the Classroom Building do not always coincide. And no one should expect them to. What one department holds to be self-evident is not the word of another. But each student has to pick out the best for himself or construct another.

Is NWMSC inspiring this kind of thinking? Or is it merely distributing information?

A learned professor at the University of Missouri School of Journalism last semester informed a group of Missouri college editors of which I was a member that it was not the duty of the editorial writer to find the answer to a question. And so, I ask again is NWMSC a thinking man's college.

Honestly, I cannot see how one thinks that it is. Not if one student among us takes everything as fact and nothing makes him raise his eyebrows in wonderment or disbelief. Part of the fault lies with the individual student, if he is content to sit in a classroom, take notes and then memorize the information for the next test.

For the sake of argument, I wonder how many students would bother to ask an instructor to prove what he has to say?

ALL THAT JAZZ

The College Crisis

THE STATE COLLEGES IN MISSOURI now face an acute problem. Unless the state legislature creates new sources of revenue, the collegiate program will have to abandon not only its plans for future expansion but will also have to curtail current programs.

The proposed addition to the Wells Library and the eventual building of the new fine arts building will necessarily fall by the wayside unless more money is provided. Operating expenses, faculty salaries, repair and maintenance expenses, and student activity budgets will all have to be cut in order to operate within the current incoming revenues.

The tax windfall of the last biennium, created by bookkeeping sleight-of-hand, was not a permanent source of money. While it did solve the problem last time, it cannot be used again. A more substantial program is needed.

CURRENTLY BEFORE THE LEGISLATURE are proposals for increasing the sales tax from 2% to 3%. Preliminary voting on these measures is already taking place in the State Senate. They are expected to come before the General Assembly in the near future.

If you, the students of NWMSC, wish your college to grow and expand, then you must do your part in securing the revenue increases. By asking your parents and your voting friends in your home counties to write to their legislators, urging that they vote yes on such measures, you will help insure the passage of these vital bills. The letters which Senators and Representatives receive from their constituents often have a great bearing on their decisions.

By taking such action, you will be working for the betterment of the whole state educational system and for all of the students who attend those schools and colleges now and those who will attend them in the future.

Listed below are the Senators and Representatives from the Northwest Missouri State College District and their home counties. Letters to Senators should be addressed to the Senate Post Office, Jefferson City, Missouri. Those to the Representatives should be addressed to the House Post Office, Jefferson City, Missouri.

The parking situation at NWMSC is one of the problems brought about by the increase in enrollment. New parking lots have been surfaced which have helped to alleviate the difficulty. But still there is a parking problem. With this in mind the Inquiring Photographer asked "What do you think can be done about the parking problems at NWMSC?"

Larry Holland, Kansas City, Missouri, senior, P.E. major.

"I think the parking lot along the side of the Quads should be available for one hour parking all day so a person could visit someone in the Quads without getting a ticket."

Jerry Ferrell, Valley Falls, Kansas, senior, biology major.

"They have made great strides in solving the problem, but more space will be needed with increased student enrollment, as right now almost all available space is being used."

Everett Walker, St. Joseph, Missouri, senior, social science major.

"I think parking lots should be right by the door of Colden Hall."

Loren Rex, Lathrop, Missouri, sophomore, PE major. "Turn out the lights."

Twyla Steele, Skidmore, Missouri, senior, art major. "I commute so it really is not much of a problem for me."

Gary Boggie, Marshalltown, Iowa, junior, psychology major. "Give the girls longer hours."

John Stiel, Grinnell, Iowa, sophomore, elementary education major.

"The parking lots at the present time are adequate but if students continue to come plans for expansions will have to be made."

I think a section of street should be extended from the west side of Wilson Hall up to Lot 8 so there would be one way passage around the men's dorms."

Richard Erb, Garden Grove, Iowa, senior, fine arts major. "I think the lots have been improved. I do think something should be done about parking in front of the girls' dorms."

Editorial Exchange Federal Aid to Colleges

The following editorial is reprinted from the Feb. 22, 1963 issue of The Concordian, the student newspaper of Concordia College in Moorhead, Minn.

WHEN ONE THINKS of the size of our federal budget and how much of it goes into defense, one wonders why we have not stressed a little more the importance of the continuing defense of this country through the improvement and training of the mind."

The above statement, quoted from Senator Hubert Humphrey, reflects a point of view concerning the problems currently facing colleges, universities, and students throughout this nation. Should the federal government enter into the field of giving direct aid to college students?

It is of course true that the Federal government at the present time does give some aid to higher education. For example, Livedalen Hall was constructed with the assistance of a federal loan, and most of us are aware of the National Defense Education loan program. However, the advocates of increased federal aid to higher education cite the fact that college enrollment is increasing at the rate of 8% per year, and is anticipated to increase its percentage rate of growth even more in the coming decade.

THE NEED FOR MORE monetary resources lies not only with the institutions themselves for such things as more buildings, higher teacher salaries, better laboratories and such; the need for financial assistance lies also with the students themselves. There are more than 150,000 young citizens of high academic ability who are unable to attend college each year because of financial reasons. This in itself represents a tremendous loss of human resources.

If an expanded federal aid to higher education bill were passed, what might it mean to you, the college student? One such bill provides for federal scholarships of from $500 to $1500 per year for college students, based upon merit and need. This could accomplish several ends: if the program were large enough, it would spend more of their money for improving their physical and faculty facilities, since they could, if necessary, cut back on their own scholarship programs, and, with the federal scholarship assistance, still maintain as many students on scholarships as they now have; secondly, they could continue their current scholarship programs in addition to the proposed federal program, and thus be able to assist that many more students.

THERE ARE SEVERAL objections advanced opposing such a federal assistance program and they all seem to center around one basic issue: fear that federal aid will result in increased federal control which could lead to political domination of education, thus violating the libertarian principles of educational freedom.

This fear reflects a rather narrow-minded and hostile attitude toward the government of the United States; it implies that our government is the enemy of the people, that there is a rational basis for the belief that our representative government, chosen by the people, is bent upon the course of political tranny and control of men's minds.

The Ethiopian put down his jug and looked up at me. "Yes, a little water would taste good. Have you seen any American women lately?" he asked.

"Yes I have not," he replied precisely. "Why it is you ask?" "Never mind! That week's over anyhow; I escaped by the bald of my head. Say, where's the nearest airport? Really want to get back to classes."

"This place where the sky falls is in Sinbad, there where the dust is on the horizon, you see. You would make much haste."

"Thank you, sir. If you're ever in Iowa, look me up."

"Thank you, my son. When you near Sinbad, watch for the Desert Marauders. You look as though you could ill afford to lose your head."

"You're right, but can I get past them to the airport? I know a stewardess on one flight that you just couldn't believe exists."

"Once I too was young, my son, but you are without hope for the might of the marauders is immeasurable."

"What about these Marauders, as you call them? Are they really great?"

"Ah! So great is their might and so just is their cause that Allah could not in his infinite wisdom help but bless them. They strive to save Sinbad, to revolt against the Night Fighters who have enslaved the people of the city and their evil allies, the Campusionians. Verily, the dear marauders do stand for Mother, for Home, for Money, for Enjoyment, for Travel, for Food, and for Fun. They crusade to bring all these good things to their homes in secret when they are not employed in Sinbad. They stay in Sinbad under the very eye of the Campusionians and Night Fighters all the week long and then, when opportunity calls, they STRIKE for their freedom."

The old man leaped and shouted all over, then collapsed in a heap.

"Here, Sir, let me help you up . . . You should watch yourself in this heat and all. You must have high blood pressure at your age. Easy now!"

"Look in my eyes, son, and listen, for I feel the Call of Allah. You, my son, must carry on the work of the Desert Marauders. You must help us to save, yea to cleanse, the very soul of the sinful Campusionians. You must carry the message that old times must never be broken, that each weekend the citizens of Sinbad must return to the lands of their mothers to bask in the filling goodness of food and fun and unforgotten loved ones of all ages and grades, to escape the horrendous pressures of the city. You, my son, are charged with this duty to the true and dedicated people of the city, the ones who do the most for their township, the people who can live themselves and who en-

FATHER WILLIAM

-Playbill-

Judgment at Nuremberg, now playing at the Tivoli Theatre, is another attempt at an assessment of the guilt for the horrors of World War II. Its method of approach, cast, and overall quality are, however, of a higher calibre than most of the Austerlitz re-runs which were hastily assembled in the wake of the Eichman trail.

The movie is set in Germany in 1948 after the major war criminals of the Third Reich have already been tried and sentenced. The world-wide attention and publicity which surrounded the earlier trials has died down when Judge Dan Heywood, (Spencer Tracy), a down east American judge, is sent to preside at the trials of minor figures in the German Government including several judges.

The trial begins on a high plane. Prosecutor Col. Tad Lawson (Richard Widmark) charges the judges with complicity in the lawless action of the Nazis. He attempts to prove that they abdicated their responsibility to the Weimer Republic. Defense Counsel Hans Rolfe (Maximilian Schell) advises the defendants to plead not guilty, which three do. The fourth, Ernst Janning (Burt Lancaster) refuses to recognize the legality of the trial and detaches himself from the proceedings.

The proceedings soon degenerate as the prosecution introduces a victim of Nazi sterilization, Rudolf Peterson (Montgomery Clift), as evidence of Nazi brutality. The trial then shifts to the more sensational aspects of Hitler's Germany, avoiding the original indictment.

As the trial comes to a close, Soviet Russia marches on Czechoslovakia. American generals, feeling the growing threat of Communism and the need for German help, urge Judge Heywood and prosecutor Lawson to go easy on the defendants in order not to alienate German sentiment. Heywood asks how their bowing to expediency would be any different than the crime for which the defendants are being tried.

The final judgment brings the question back to a high level evaluation of the moral responsibility of the judges to uphold the law, even against the will of powerful government leaders.

With seven major stars, the movie is calculated to be a major box-office draw. It lives up to its billing. Despite the letdown in the middle when sensationalism replaces a otherwise even treatment, the production provides exciting, stimulation drama. Maximilian Schell is especially good in his portrayal of the defense counsel, torn between justice and national pride, for which he won an Academy Award.

joy the company of their own kind, the Desert Marauders. Praise Allah that this great work might be done!"

Suddenly a golden haired youth leaped from behind the sand dune and plunged his bayonet through the old man's heart! The youth relaxed, then put his foot on the old man's chest to withdraw the blade. I stood — in shock, unable to speak or move.

The youth looked at me as though I were a stranger on the street, and the sun seemed to bathe his face in innocence and purity. Then he said, "Sorry to have startled you, but I couldn't let the opportunity escape. Don't get a chance every day to kill a Sampsonite, you know. Let's see, that's only two points because he was dying anyhow. Did I hear you say, before all that guff, that you wanted a plane from Sinbad?"

"Wait a minute!" I screamed at the top of my lungs. "What's happening?"

"Oh, well, it's like this. The marauders have this tremendous membership, but it doesn't do any good. You can do anything to one of them right in front of another one. Nobody really appreciates them around here, sort of like sacred cattle or stray dogs. Not much good, you know."

A look at the town and a talk with some of the people in it convinced me. They looked like they were all in some small world of their own and didn't really care about the real one. The golden haired youth put me on the plane, and, just before the stewardess smiled, I think I was thinking how lucky I was to be going back to Maryville where pigs are pigs and cherishes are the weekenders. There is no problem like that here.

Selects Whigham

Whigham, NWMSC sophomore agriculture major from Blanchard, Iowa has been selected as an International Youth Exchange delegate. Keith is one of seven delegates from the state of Iowa. These people were selected after approval at county, state, and national levels.

With the other Iowa delegates, part of the 130 from the United States, Keith will go to Washington, D. C. for a week of orientation before going to his assignment. This orientation is given both in the U. S. and the cooperating countries on the geography, history, culture, and agriculture of the country to be visited; and is done with the language of the country. Orientation is given in the participant's culture so he will be better prepared to answer the questions he is asked. During this Keith will go to the other Iowa delegates will each go to one of the following countries: Poland, Germany, Luxembourg, Brazil or Korea.

International Farm Exchange under whose auspices Keith will go to Japan as a 4-H Club people to program for selected people from the U. S. to work with rural people in other countries and for people from cooperating countries to come to the U. S. similar experience. Since inception in 1948, IFYE has conducted with 1,293 U. S. students and 1,477 foreign exchange students.

Program is conducted by National 4-H Club Foundation on behalf of the Cooperation Extension Service of the Land-Grant colleges and states and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Other agencies, rural organizations, foundations and educational institutions also come in this privately supported exchange. In other countries exchange is conducted through operating rural youth organizations, farm groups, and agencies of agriculture.

IFYE is founded on the principle that understanding between people is the foundation of world peace. By providing people with an opportunity to "learn another way of living it," the program helps them to better understand problems and attitudes of other peoples.

What value he felt his as an IFYE delegate would be, Keith said he hoped to "help people in the U. S. better understand their foreign neighbors." He added, "It is our purpose to share with others our experiences with and the differences in cultures other than our own." "When I return," he stated, "I will speak, show slides, and write articles in order to give the people here an idea of conditions and culture in Japan."

During his six month's stay in Japan, Keith will share the work and social life of his hosts in order to develop an appreciation of their customs, life and culture.

Participation in IFYE has increased steadily over the past three years. In 1962—the 15th year of IFYE—an estimated 125 U. S. delegates from 42 states were exchanged with 132 exchange students from 49 countries. Exchanges visiting the U. S. arrive in the spring and return home in the fall; thus they may observe the peak of agricultural activity. The delegates to other countries are programmed for their visits to coincide with the most appropriate seasons, thus they are departing and returning home throughout the year.

After his return from Japan, Keith will attend an evaluation session at the National 4-H center in Washington, D. C. after which he will return to NWMSC for the spring semester.

Merit Scholarship Deadline Apr. 11

Are you interested in obtaining a Merit Scholarship or in renewing the one you now hold? The deadline for filing application for these scholarships is April 1.

Students wishing to be considered as applicants must complete the necessary forms and turn them in to the scholarship committee, room 119 in the Administration Building, by this date.

"Present scholarship holders who desire to renew their scholarships for the fall semester are reminded that they are responsible for completing an application for renewal," states Dr. C. E. Koerble, dean of students. Dr. Koerble added that no scholarships of this type are available for the summer session.

Information concerning Merit Scholarships may be obtained from Dean Koerble's secretary, in room 119 of the Administration Building.

Greek Week

Inter-Fraternity Council

The Inter-Fraternity Council has ruled that several men would be allowed to pledge fraternities after the normal deadline. Tau Kappa Epsilon was permitted to pledge Thomas Harvey, Sigma Tau Gamma to pledge Tom Wright and Austin Mueller, and Phi Lambda Chi to pledge Dave Taylor and Larry Hanna.

Phi Mu

Sara Kreft was elected president of the Phi Mu pledges on Tuesday, March 26. Other pledge class officers elected were vice-president, Sandi Coffin; secretary, Glenda Knott; and treasurer, Phyllis Ivy.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

The Sigma Sigma Sigma fall pledge class was honored at a banquet held Sunday, February 10 at Armstrong's restaurant. Nancy Reinert was chosen the "most outstanding" pledge, and was awarded a pledge paddle. Other honors were given to Lyn Lockard for the outstanding essay and to Nancy Wayman for the highest scholastic attainment.

Later in the afternoon, an initiation ceremony was held. Those initiated were: Virginia Bright, Beneta King, Pat Meyer, Nancy Reinert, and Nancy Wayman.

The 1963 Sigma Sigma Sigma pledge class elected officers at their first meeting Tuesday, February 19. The new President is Karen Kimbrough, and the Vice President is Ann Shamberger. Other officers include Karen Davidson, secretary; Donna Friend, treasurer; and Myrna Schlegelberger, song leader.

On the evening of February 26, the Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority entertained the Phi Sigma Epsilon Fraternity at a mixer held in the Phi Sig Chapter room. New pledges from both the fraternity and sorority were introduced. Miss Neva Ross, Mr. William Garrett, and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Dieterich were guests for the evening.

French Exhibit Here Mar. 18

Mr. Charles Johnson, chairman of the Spring Festival of Fine Arts Committee has announced that the first event is a photographic exhibit which will be on display in the gallery of the Department of Fine Arts at the Administration Building.

This outstanding exhibit features French sculpture of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. It is on loan to the college through the Cultural Service of the French Embassy in New York.

The collection may be viewed from March 11 to March 23 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

New Pledges For K O Phi

Kappa Omicron Phi pledged the following girls in a ceremony held February 20 in the Blue Room of the Union: Georgia Linnville, Jane Shaver, Shana Griffin, Patsy Robertson, Dena Lytle McKee, Joan Whitaker, and Sharon Ostrus.

The annual party given by the Maryville Alumnae chapter of Kappa Omicron Phi in honor of the senior members was held February 25 at the home of Mrs. John Schrier.

Memorial services for Miss Mildred Shinabarger, a charter member of Kappa Omicron Phi will be held May 15 by the NWMSC chapter.

The original charter of the campus chapter of Kappa Omicron Phi had been misplaced and just recently was found in the attic of a home in Maryville. It will be restored and placed in the Home Economics Department in the Ad. building.

Faculty Briefs

Miss Violette Hunter has been appointed by the Missouri Association of Teachers of English to edit the state publication Missouri Youth Writes.

In this publication are featured selected writings of Missouri high school students.

Miss Hunter has received hundreds of manuscripts of drama, poems, essays, short stories, book reviews, and critiques. The best of these will be chosen by professional writers and college and university professors to be published.

The administrators and departments of English in the state have been very cooperative, reports Miss Hunter.

Kappa Omicron Phi Initiates Pledges

For the first time this year SNEA is experimenting with a new method of electing officers. The voting for the four top offices will be by secret ballot with a procedure similar to that of elections supervised by the Student Senate.

Voting will take place in Room 105, Golden Hall, March 11 and 12. The time for voting is 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. and from 4:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. on both days. Voting will be supervised by SNEA graduating seniors. Those SNEA members voting must present their membership receipts to be marked. Mimeographed ballots listing the candidates will be provided.

A nominating committee composed of graduating seniors has already selected the candidates for office. They are as follows: President, Harold Johnson and Martha McCall; Vice-president, Keith Lambertson and Richard Beem; Secretary, Sharon Schmidt and Ruth Ann Lamphier; Treasurer, Betty Johnson and Martha Kleever.

Scene room workers Doris Wilson, Mr. Kerry Lafferty, Ed-dielea Roe, and Carolyn Enls prepare scenery for GIRL CRAZY, the George Gershwin musical which will be presented in the college auditorium March 13, 14, and 15 as a part of the Spring Festival of Fine Arts at NWMSC.

GIRL-CRAZY CAST Polishes Production For March 13-14-15

George Gershwin had a tiger by the tale when he wrote Girl Crazy. There are close to sixty people involved with getting this production ready for opening night on March 13. The four that have been hardest at work are Gary Pittsberg, Rose Ann Gard, Cynthia Daibey, and Thor McMillin. They portray the lead roles of Johnny, Molly, Kate, and Zoli in the show. Besides the usual occupation of learning lines and stage action they must also devote long hours to songs and choreography. The end result? You can judge for yourself on March 13, 14, or 15.

The costumes for Girl Crazy will serve to add a riot of color to the stage. The numbers for which the entire chorus will be massed on the stage will become kalidoscopes of movement in satins and corduroy. All new costumes are being built by Mrs. Theodore Palmer and Mrs. Kerry Lafferty.

The name of Mrs. Palmer is not new to anyone who has appeared on the NWMSC stage in a new costume. She has been involved in this important work for several years.

This is Mrs. Lafferty's first show in Maryville. Some of the costumes are of her design.

As a Sidelight . . . The first production of Girl Crazy in 1930 was the first stage appearance of Ethel Mermand and Ginger Rogers. The orchestra included Benny Goodman, Glenn Miller, Red Nichols, and Gene Krupa who were as yet unknown.

'Cat Wrestling Squad Cops Second Place in AAU Meet

The NWMSC Bearcat wrestling team tied for second place honors in the Mar. 1-2 Missouri Valley AAU meet in Fort Hays, Kansas. The 'Cats scored 61 total points to tie with Kansas State.

The host team, Fort Hays, took meet honors with 112 points. Wichita University was fourth with 24 points, and Kansas University finished fifth with 19 points.

Moore Ill
Dave Moore, twice selected the outstanding wrestler in this same tournament in the past two years, was lost to the 'Cats after easily pinning his first opponent.

Coach Jerry Landwer stated that Moore was taken to a Hays hospital, but it was unknown as to the exact ailment. Coach Landwer said that flu or appendicitis may have been the trouble. At any rate, Moore was unable to finish the rest of his matches, a telling blow to the 'Cats in the final team scores.

At the end of the first day of wrestling, the 'Cats held a narrow 15-13 lead over Hays but lost out for top honors the next day.

At least six Maryville grapplers lost close matches to their division's eventual meet champion, Ron Betts, Lanny Wieland, Tom Croxell, Al Jensen, Larry Kilmer, and Rich Hoyt, were the 'Cat grapplers who showed well against the final champs, according to Coach Landwer.

Several Thirds
Maryville picked up a number of their total points by finishing third in their respective divisions.

In the 123 pound class, Harvey Hallum finished second, and Al Jensen finished third. Both boys lost to the meet champion in their class, Hallum, 2-0, Jensen, 3-2.

Ron Betts finished third in the 137 pound class. Betts would have probably won the entire division, Coach Landwer stated, but his opponent reversed with 59 seconds remaining. Betts lost this match 7-6.

Lonnie Wieland also took third place in his division, 147 pounds. Wieland displayed top form throughout the meet but also lost to the eventual champion.

Tom Croxell, who moved down to the 157 class for the tournament, found the eventual champ of this division too tough but also managed to easily cop third place.

Added Trouble
Moore, of course, had to forfeit the remainder of his matches because of his unfortunate illness.

Roger Malmberg came on strongly in the 177 pound division with a fourth place finish. The husky Malmberg had to forfeit his final match because of a knee injury.

Big Ken Peterson surprised with a powerful showing in the heavyweight class. The rapidly improving Peterson took third place and displayed top flight form against his opponents.

Tinkler MVP
Tinkler of Fort Hays, the winning team, won the coveted Top Wrestler Award. Tinkler is a 185 pound heavyweight.

Moore, although unable to compete in full, was awarded the Sportsmanship Trophy.

Hays Strong
Fort Hays captured the first place trophy largely on number of entries, as they entered several more men in each event than did Maryville. The 'Cats lost valuable points in the 115 and 191 pound divisions since they had no entry in those weights. Hays had three entries in each, finishing one, three, four in both classes.

Coach Landwer stated that the competition was quite exciting throughout all of the matches. He said that the large majority of the coaches present thought that this was easily the strongest Missouri Valley AAU Tournament which has been held.

Several champions from various years returned for the meet to add to the competition. An average of 13 men were entered in each weight class.

Intramural Title Tilt To Be Played

The 1962-63 intramural basketball season will be climaxed Friday night with the championship game, which will precede the Harlem Globetrotter-ABL All-Star tilt. The contest will kick-off an evening of top-flight basketball entertainment at 6:00.

The two competing teams will represent the top two clubs as decided by the 16 team tournament, based on single elimination play.

Hagan Directs
Larry Hagan, student intramural director, is in charge of the final intramural contest scheduling. The Intramural Council, headed by Hagan and Dr. H.D. Peterson of the Physical Education Department, are working with the Bearcat Lettermen Organization to present the title game.

Tournament Teams
Originally, Hagan planned to allow all teams to enter the tournament, but later decided to let the top 16 teams compete instead. The qualifying clubs were picked not only on a basis of won-lost records, but also on the strength of their leagues.

Schuchman Grabs Individual MIAA Statistics Lead

Norm Schuchman of the Rolla Miners has taken over the lead in there of the four major categories of statistics in the MIAA conference according to word from the conference headquarters.

The agile Miner center has the lead in both conference and all games scoring with averages of 25.9 and 25.1 tallies per outing, respectively. Schuchman also leads the conference in rebounding with 11 per contest. Bill Giessing of Cape Girardeau leads in all games rebounding with 12.3 per game. Giessing is closely followed by Schuchman with 11.7.

Lester Selva of Kirksville is second in conference scoring with a mark of 24.7. Bud Valino of Warrensburg, Roger Voss of the Bearcats, and Gordy McFarland of Warrensburg round out the top five conference scorers. Maryville's Dick Rishel has climbed into the scoring spotlight for the Bearcat's of late and now is in the number 12 position on the basis of 11.5 tallies per contest. Don Drake and Paul Lizzo are also among the league's top fifteen scorers in conference play.

Voss Is Second
Voss, Maryville's big "V", is currently in second position in the all games scoring derby. Voss carries a 24.5 average for 22 games. Following Voss are Valino, Carl Ritter, the outside member of Cape's 1-2 punch, and Selva. Lizzo is Maryville's second leading scorer with a mark of 13.5.

Schuchman's teammate, Jim Good, holds down second in the conference games rebounding. Although only 6-1, Good is hauling down 10.9 carsoms per ball game. Voss, Valino, and Giessing round out the top five, with Maryville's only other entry in the top 25 being Don Drake, who is number 14.

Voss, Paul Ranson of Cape, and Good stack up behind the leaders in all games rebounding, and all have better than a 10 carom per game average. Drake holds down the number eight position with 8.2 grabs. Marv Branch is number nineteen on the list.

Notes on Baseball Spring Training

Slugging first baseman Norm Siebern signed for $34,000 last week with the Kansas City Athletics to become the second team member to end a long holdout over contract disagreement.

Jerry Lumpe, star second baseman, signed for $32,000 just hours earlier. Each set a new salary record with the A's, Siebern's breaking's Lumpe's.

Mays, Alou Star
The San Francisco Giants' slugging outfielders, Willie Mays and Felipe Alou, both clouded 400 foot home runs in batting practice last week.

Both Giant flyhaws are counted on for another top flight season by manager Alvin Dark in their quest for a second straight National League Pennant.

Harlem Globetrotters To Play Professional All Stars Friday Night

The fabulous Harlem Globetrotters will appear in Maryville Mar 8 under the sponsorship of the NWMSC Lettermen Club in Lamkin Gymnasium. The opening tip-off will be at 8:00 p.m.

They've been called the most amazing sports organization the sports world has ever known... Uncle Sam's finest... and had honor upon honor heaped upon them... these scintillating Harlem Globetrotters of basketball, founded, owned, and coached by Abe Saperstein of Chicago.

ASTOUNDING RECORD
In 35 full years of competition, these "Magicians of the

Abe Saperstein

Hardwoods" have won the astounding total of 7,412 games and have compiled a won-lost percentage of .960. Last year, the 1961-62 season, the 'Trotters took 287 wins and were defeated only one time.

No sports team in history has come anywhere near such a record nor has had as much fun while compiling it as these fabulous "Magicians of the Court" for whom the entire world is their playground.

Thrills Aplenty
Many were the thrills experienced by the Harlem Globetrotters on their various trips abroad. But several were particularly outstanding to them.

Twice they completely circled the globe, once to commemorate their silver anniversary and again in 1961. Two years ago they played Poland, Hungary and Romania behind the "Iron Curtain." The year before saw them in Bulgaria, another Communist satellite.

In '59 they proved a tremendous hit in Soviet Russia itself in a series of games in Moscow where they were excitedly approached by Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

"Big K"

The 'Trotters were on a stroll in Red Square when a big state limousine drew up and out popped "K" followed by henchmen. He started pumping hands of the players while exclaiming, "Ah, basketball!" and willingly posed for pictures with them.

Record Crowds
Needlessly said, the 'Trotters always play before a large audience wherever they have gone. But in 1936, when foreign powers were making great inroads with East German youth, the U. S. military head in Berlin asked the Globetrotters if they wouldn't interrupt their European tour and come in for an exhibition in Olympic Stadium, where Jesse Owens had played such a prominent track role in winning four Gold Medals in the 1936 Olympiad.

It just so happened that Owens was traveling with the 'Trotters in Europe as an added attraction at the time of the request. The combination of the Globetrotters and Owens drew a turnout of 75,000. Saperstein calls the dramatic moments of that occasion the most memorable of his career with the 'Trotters. It was, and is, by far, the greatest attendance in history for a basketball show.

"I look back to our very first game," Saperstein said, "as we took to the road from Chicago to the little town of Hincley, Illinois, some 50 miles away, in a raggedy 'tin lizzie', five Negro boys and myself. We hoped that we would draw enough money in our first game to buy gasoline and some hamburgers. And what a terrific thrill to have some 300 people turn out for the game!"

This was the start for Saperstein and his Globetrotters. They traveled like this for a period and did not become the real Globetrotters until some years later. Says Saperstein, "The idea that made a bouncing basketball our magic carpet to fame found us making our first out of the country trip to Mexico in 1939. From that trip was born the subsequence ones to all parts of the globe. Our first complete trip around the world occurred in 1952 to celebrate our Silver Anniversary season."

All America For 1963 Named by AP

Art Heyman of Duke, Ron Bonham of Cincinnati, and Jerry Harkness of Chicago Loyola, whose exploits on the hardwoods helped their respective clubs to national ranking throughout the season, head the 1963 All-American team as announced by the Associated Press.

Rounding out the first team are Gary Bradds of Ohio State and Barry Kramer of New York University. Heyman and Harkness are seniors, Bonham, Bradds, and Kramer are all juniors.

Heyman, Bonham
Heyman and Bonham, both 6-5 frontliners, topped all vote getters. Heyman polled 746 points, Bonham, 706. The rugged Heyman led the Duke Blue Devils to an undefeated record in regular season's play in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Bonham, considered by many as the top shooter in college ranks, led his Cincinnati Bearcats to another Missouri Valley Conference title. The Bearcat ace polled 706 total points in the balloting by 183 sports writers and radio-TV broadcasters.

Bearcats Scare Rockhurst, Lose, 86-84, In Close Game

In a hectic finish Thursday night in Kansas City, Rockhurst College wiped out a Northwest State College 114-10 and defeated the Bearcats 86-84 in the season's first for both teams.

MSC Cage Post Open—

Coach Moss' Contract Not Renewed

Marion Moss, Northwest State College basketball coach, today was notified of action by the MSC board of regents by Dr. J. W. Jones that Moss' probationary appointment would not be made permanent tenure.

His contract as a physical education instructor and basketball coach will not be renewed.

Moss was not available for comment. The basketball coach just completed his fifth season Thursday night when his Bearcats were edged by the Rockhurst Hawks, 86-84, in a 12 won, 11 lost year, for an overall record of 57 wins against 53 losses in the five-year span.

During the five season's, Moss' teams have had one losing year, one a break-even stint and three winning years. Last year was the only one in which one of his teams was under a .500 year when a season of six wins and 15 losses was recorded.

Moss came to Maryville from Oklahoma State College, Stillwater, where he gained a masters degree under former Maryville State Coach Henry Iba.

His first appointment was on a 3-year probationary assignment and that was extended for another two years which ends at the end of this semester.

This is the second change in the MSC physical education department in the past month. Earlier Ivan Schottel, St. Benedict's football coach, was named head football coach, effective next fall. Earl Baker, football coach for the past three years, was named assistant.

MSC held a 57-46 lead 49 minutes left before Rockhurst called "a fancy gang of fighters" by a Kansas sportswriter, began pressing Dick Hennier, who finished with 32 points, spearheaded Hawk rally, firing in 19 points in the last 10 minutes. He scored at 70-70 with a five minutes remaining.

With four seconds remaining in the contest, Dick Rishel had a chance to tie the score, but he missed the field goal attempt.

Roger Voss tallied 27 points for MSC, while getting outstanding support from Paul Lizzo with 18, Rishel with 16 and Drake with 14. Lizzo and Drake finished their careers with Bearcats.

It was the 11th loss in 23 games for the Bearcats.

Rockhurst finished its season in history with a mark and moved into a best three playoff with Columbia Stockton College. MSC champion, for a berth in NAIA tournament.

Rockhurst was undefeated 12 games on its own court.

Cape Girardeau, MIAA conference champion, finished season with a 21-2 mark. set a new school scoring mark in defeating McKendree College Thursday night 104-70.

Paul Ranson hit 28 and Giessing added 25 for the Miners.

State College Swimmers Close Season at 9-3

Two team records were set as the Northwest State College swimming team ended its dual match season at home Saturday by defeating the visiting William Jewell College aquamen, 59-35.

The MSC swimmers will take a 9-3 record to the Tri-State Invitational championships at Warrensburg Friday and Saturday.

Setting new records for the Bearcats were Atkins, who raced to a 2:38.1 time in the 200-yard backstroke, and the 400-yard medley relay team, which finished in 4:24.8. On the team were Atkins, Poland, Fisher and Smith.

Fisher and Spicer were double winners for MSC.

Fisher took the 60-Yard freestyle and the 100-yard freestyle, while Spicer won the diving and 200-yard breaststroke.

The winners were as follows:
60-Yard Freestyle—Fisher, M.
100-Yard Freestyle—Fisher, M.
160-Yard Medley—Poland, M.
200-Yard Backstroke—Atkins, M., new team record, 2:38.1.
200-Yard Butterfly—Smith, M.
200-Yard Breaststroke—Spicer, M.
200-Yard Freestyle—Simmons, W.J.
400-Yard Medley Relay—MSC, Fisher, Poland, Smith and Atkins, new team record, 4:24.8.
400-Yard Freestyle Relay—William Jewell.
500-Yard Freestyle—McCoy, M.
Diving—Spicer, M.

M Club Meets

The NWMSC M-Club held their regular meeting, Feb. 27, to discuss plans for the Harlem Globetrotter game. The Lettermen also selected officers for the coming year.

Elected men were Tom Walton, president; Jim Sanders, vice-president; Randy Wolcott, secretary; Tom Baker, treasurer; Glenn Acksel, sergeant at arms; and Ed Atkins, reporter.

Cape Girardeau To Playoffs

The Cape Girardeau Indians, MIAA Conference champions, will participate in the NCAA Regional Tournament next Friday and Saturday, Mar. 8-9. Cape will serve as the host city for the week-end play.

With Cape, 21-2, are Arkansas State, 14-9, Lamar Tech, 21-4, and Southern Illinois, 17-8. The tournament will move on to Evansville, Ind., Mar. 13-15, for the NCAA college division tournament.

Leading Cape throughout the season have been Don Ringstaff, Bill Geissing, and Carl Ritter. Geissing and Ritter are both small college All-Americans. Ringstaff is a Vanderbilt transfer and has scored consistently for the Indians. It is not known whether or not Ritter will compete. The 6-1 guard collided with Maryville's big Don Drake several weeks ago and did not play the final games of the season.
